TABERNACLE DEDICATED FREE OF DEBT

MRS. BESS BROOKS.

Large Crowds Attend the Fife Brothers Revival in Spite of Rain--30 Additions.
Sunday was certainly a great day at the tabernacle in spite of the heavy rain that continued all day. The people came by hundreds through the down-pour to hear the Fife Brothers preach and sing the Gospel and many came forward to take a stand for Christ. In the morning Evangelist Fife preached a very unusual and touching sermon on "What and Where is Heaven?" The audience was carried away by his picture of a traveler among the stars in search of heaven and there was not a dry eye in the tabernacle when he told of the breaking of his home ties which could only be united in that brighter land where there would be no parting. Before the evangelist spoke, Mr. Earl H. Fife read a beautiful poem entitled "Life and Pap and Mother," after which he sang a selection entitled "There Will Be No Tears in Paradise."
Mrs. Brooks to Speak Next Sunday
Mrs. Bess Fife Brooks who was to have delivered her famous address on "The Most Charming Woman in the World" Sunday afternoon will speak next Sunday at 2:30 p. m. on the same subject. She contracted a severe cold while calling on some people last week which resulted in her almost losing her voice. She is much better now and will be able to continue her work in a few days. This address has caused wide spread interest wherever she has given it and a packed house is expected to hear it. Everyone is welcome.
The crowd for the evening service started to come into the tabernacle soon after supper and by seven o'clock the house was well filled. Mr.

Earl Fife conducted a rousing song service and frequently complimented the people on their fine singing. The new songs in the revival song books are the best that have ever been heard in the city. Some of the favorites are: "Sweetest are the Years Go By," "Pentecostal Power," "I Shall Dwell Forever There" and "Saved."

ton buried eight people in Christian Baptism. All the lights in the tabernacle were turned off except a beautiful electric cross which was hung over the baptismal tank and shed its light on the people as they obeyed their Lord in this Bible way.

Then Evangelist Fife came to the platform and asked the people for an additional $250 which added to the amount already pledged would dedicate the tabernacle free from debt. This amount was easily provided, almost all of which was given by the organized forces to the church. All the money that has been provided so far will go to pay the expenses of the revival. So far the Fife Brothers have not received a cent for their work. The Lyceum programme which was given Thursday night will go to partly pay the evangelist's assistants and the offering on the last day will go to Mr. Fife.

has proven so successful that there is widespread interest in dairying among the settlers. Unfortunately many of the settlers are without the necessary capital to purchase good dairy stock and for the time being are forced to continue the uneconomic method of selling all their forage crops. A large number of these settlers are trying to operate more land than their means will permit, and with a view of engaging in dairying all these projects the markets for dairy products, beef and pork, are excellent and there is every indication of a continuance of an indefinite period. It has been demonstrated repeatedly that dairy farming in the West is the safest, surest and in the long run the most profitable form of agriculture to engage in.

The Settlement Agent of the U. S. Reclamation Service at Chicago is furnishing information concerning location, prices and terms to all who are seeking homes in the West, but is especially desirous of interesting practical farmers with capital. Many of these projects contain a few government farms available for homesteading and literature describing them is also supplied. In view of the very high prices prevailing elsewhere for lands suitable for dairying, the western opportunities are regarded as exceedingly attractive.

CHRISTMAS BAGS AND FANS ARE HANDSOME

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY.
The immense variety in ribbons permits an unending variety in fancy bags, and they will play their usual prominent part at Christmas time. The ribbons and heavy weaves in plain ribbons are used for opera bags and for the handsome shopping bags which city women find it convenient to carry with them when they have small purchases to make and intend carrying them home. Ribbons in lighter weight, such as the Dresden, in taffeta, which are found in so many beautiful designs, are chosen for all those bags that form accessories to the furnishings of the home. Among these, those with flowered patterns on a plain silk ground having wide borders of gauze are the newest and most beautiful of the season's offerings. Such a ribbon is shown here in the pretty cretonne bag pictured.

A new design in a shopping bag which may be made long enough to ent and useful rather than by mere prettiness.

Here are pictured a few of the many attractive things, made of cretonne, which will be appreciated by the men folk.

answer for a music roll as well, is pictured. It is made of brown ribbon and a figured ribbon stitched together. A narrow silver braid is placed over the stitching. The top of the bag is edged with the same braid and a little the finish of silver ball trimming is placed along the bottom. The bag is not gathered at the top, but is provided with four cords by which it is held. It is laid in a few flats at each side, held in place by an ornament made of the silver cord. A substantial ribbon is required for this novel design.

A collar bag of figured silk suitable as a gift to a man is provided with a pasteboard bottom, with sides two or three inches high. The lid of a round, oblong box is used for this foundation. It is covered with the silk. A strip of silk ten inches wide forms the bag; one edge is sewed to the bottom around which the silk fits smoothly. The upper edge is gathered on an elastic cord run in a casing in the hem. Silver cord provides hangers and the bag is finished with an ornament made of it at each side and a bit of silver braid outlining the support at the bottom. This is a convenience that any man will appreciate.

afterward tied together with narrow ribbon. The small box for handkerchiefs or ties is made by pasting cretonne over a strong pasteboard box. The top is padded with a sheet of cotton wadding. A set of three boxes for ties, gloves, handkerchiefs, with a large one for shoes, makes an elegant present where one wishes to give so much. But one single box will be appreciated.

CHOOSING CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR THE MEN

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY.
When it comes to selecting things for men two facts should be borne in mind. Men appreciate whatever adds to their personal comfort and they are attracted by things that are convenient

The farmer isn't required to lie until his back teeth fall out about the sterling manhood of a groom with ears like a willow plant and brain power of a goat. He doesn't have to run a piano contest for the most beautiful young lady in the county or print a 15c half-tone of the beauty that looks like a tiny type of grandma at the age of thirteen.

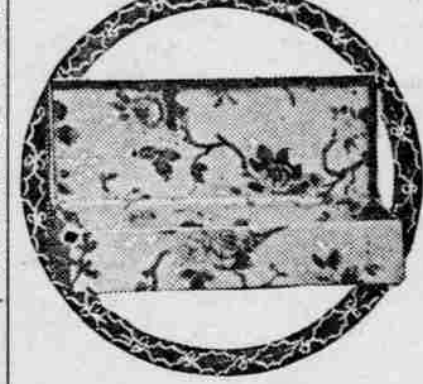

There is nothing in the farmer's curriculum that obliges him to paint the local soprano as a heaven-sent songster, or to tell his wife that she is a voice that would make a guinea hen weep. He isn't called upon to paint the virtues of a prominent citizen who earned his money by collecting notes with a draw shave and who would have an attack of heart failure if suddenly separated from two bits in real money.

The farmer can stand on the street corner and roar about the smallpox in town until his whiskers curl up like a man with the wind colic, and if the newspaper man runs a three line item to the same effect his advertisers will land on him and make him resemble a crushed fruit salad. The farmer can sit on his front porch and lambaste the board of supervisors or trustees from supper to breakfast and if the newspaper man jabs a board of the fence in that direction his appeal for printing will be about as effective as curing a live bull with tobacco sauce.

The farmer can express his opinion of the local preachers in a firm and loud voice on the four corners. If the printer ventures to express the view that the preacher ought to be chasing combs over a much cover instead of filling a large room with thin ozone he will lose subscribers so fast that he won't have the circulation of a cold storage egg.

If the editor takes two days off in succession his patrons call him a loafer. If he works until he is broke over like a fat man with the cramps people say he is too stingy to hire extra help. If he contributes $2.00 to the W. C. T. U. and wears a bolted shirt on Sunday the bank calls in his note with a noise like a wooden-legged man falling on a tin roof; if he refuses to dig up for a church supper he is branded as a miser and avoided as if he had the hives. The farmer every man who faces the fact and tell him to go where there is no premium on cold slack. If the printer informs a man who tries to beat him out of four years subscription that he is so crooked that he couldn't go to sleep in a round house he is liable to be reduced to the consistency of corn starch pudding. --Monroeville Spectator.

Old people, to overcome the weakening, debilitating effects of increasing age, often make a very sad mistake in using so-called "remedies" that contain alcohol and dangerous or habit-forming drugs. Often this stuff, because it livened and brightened them up a little just after taking a dose, leads them to imagine that it is doing them good, when it isn't. Remedies that rely for their sale on such deceit, do harm, because the false excitement of the nerves and heart leaves them worse than they were before.

Reckall Olive Oil Emulsion is a real medicine--a splendid body and strength-builder, especially good for old people, because it furnishes to the system ingredients necessary to rebuild wasted tissues, strengthen the nerves, give new energy and a younger and livelier feeling to the body. It doesn't contain a drop of alcohol nor any dangerous drug. It may not make you feel better at the first dose, nor perhaps for several days. But if you don't feel much better and stronger before you have taken a quarter as much as you have of other medicines that didn't help you, we will gladly give you back your money. That's certainly a square deal.

The four Hypophosphites it contains are used by leading physicians everywhere in debility, weakness and inability to disease, to tone and strengthen the nerves. Purest Olive Oil, one of the most nutritious, most easily digested foods known, being taken with the hypophosphites, gives rich tissue nourishment to the entire system.

You who are weak and rundown, and you who are apparently well now, but are liable to suffer from various cold weather ailments, use Reckall Olive Oil Emulsion to keep you well and strong. For the tired-out, rundown, nervous, emaciated or debilitated--the convalescing--growing children--aged people--it is a sensible pleasant-tasting aid to renewed strength, better spirits, glowing health. If it does not help you, your money will be given back to you without argument. Sold in this community only at our store--The Reckall Store--one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores in the United States, Canada and Great Britain. Read & Wager, Wauson, Ohio.

CHARLES GERALD ROOS was the eldest of G. Scott and Ora Stutesman Roos and was born February 1, 1896, and peacefully passed away early Wednesday morning, November 20th, 1913, aged 17 years, 9 months and 25 days.

RUNNING A FARM VS. OPERATING A NEWSPAPER

The man who owns 80 acres of land and who has brains enough to till it makes the lot of the country newspaper man look like the last sad remnants of a dutch lunch. The farmer has the best of it all around. He is as independent as the American Express Company. He doesn't have to write a soulful obituary over the remains of some punkhead bloke who caved his wife's ribs in with a grub stake and kept on display an exhibit of cut plug profanity that would make the efforts of a steamboat mate sound like a meeting of the Epworth league. He doesn't have to go into raptures over the beauty of an open-faced bride with a cast of countenance that would blow out the gas, and he can say what he dums pleases about candidates for township offices, something no newspaper man ever dared to do unless he had lost the postoffice.
